The present case is referred primarily Mr Puttanna in that the latter was required to upload respect the several units. The 1st, while Mr Kuppuswamiengar has not been required to do so, altho' he says he has been inspecting regularly.

This however considerations whether distinction should be maintained. Only 1 class of allowance admissible when put in charge of the current rules. A mileage allowance alone will be sanctioned to act in such case as allowance Rs 180 would be admissible: but when more put in charge, the allowance might well be the same practical as mileage allowance. Necessary completion

I think the distinction drawn is right and see no sufficient reason for altering the rule contained in art 65 A (d)

may be imposed except 1
